

Good Evening Aquatic Community!

What a wild year we are having! We truly understand more than ever how important movement is in our lives and we are going to try to keep going to the best of our abilities to open as often as we can to get our community swimming. These are challenging times, but we will overcome these challenges in time. Thank you for your kindness and patience as we all try to figure out our next steps.

Tomorrow morning, we will try to open as normal. However, we want to make sure we are all safe, including staff. If the air quality rises to an unsafe level, we will be forced to close once again.

What you can expect going forward as we try to manage during these fires is regular communications midday, nightly and any time changes occur in the air quality. Please follow our Facebook page, website and regular emails for current information.

Our first priority during this time is to keep us all safe and healthy. We will do our best to keep people in the pool during good air quality times during the day.

Blessing to everyone,

Steve
